Partner with us on your teen's success

Get involved—your time counts

As a parent, you have a powerful influence on your teen's learning. Research shows that children have the best chance at success in school when parents and teachers work together closely to boost learning. We strongly believe that your involvement begins in kindergarten and extends all the way to the end of high school. So, at Central Peel Secondary School we welcome and encourage the participation of all of our parents.

Why get involved?

Becoming involved in your teen's education will enhance your family's life. Here are just some of the benefits of parent involvement:

- shows your teen that you value education
- helps to build a relationship with your teen's principal and teachers
- helps you get to know other parents and provides an opportunity to meet your teen's friends
- allows you to experience student success first hand

Consider:

- Participating on our school council

It's a great way to find out what's happening at school and to express your views and opinions. We value parent input and know you share our commitment to student success. For more information on our school council, call us at the school and visit the "School Council" section of the Peel District School Board's website at www.peelschools.org.

- Welcoming new families, providing help with translation/interpretation

To volunteer to help us connect with new families in our community, call us at the school.

- Speaking to students on Career Day or at job fairs

Students are always looking to learn more about careers and the various pathways to get there. If you're interested in sharing your journey and inspiring youth, please contact our Guidance department.

- Volunteering in the school

If you have a particular skill or interest that you'd like to share with students and staff, please contact us. We're always looking for parents who are willing to share their expertise.
