

Clarkson Theory of Action: If we foster a growth mindset within our students, and provide opportunities for them to collaborate and engage in rich tasks, the our modern learners will be inspired to confidently communicate their thinking through products, conversations and observations.

